EDITORIAL NOTES.

Although the vote of California for Presidential Electors has not yet been officially declared, the Sacramento Bee gave the totals last evening, the figures being taken from the returns in the Secretary of State's office. The Bee's footings give Hancock an average majority over Garfield of only 65 votes. Edgerton is the highest man on the Republican ticket, and is elected over Terry by a majority of 463 votes. Every Republican candidate for elector received more votes than Terry did. Del Valle received the highest vote on the Democratic ticket.

The Medical Record of New York gives an account of a case of poisoning from homoeopathic granules of "nux" self-administered by a young lady for sick headache. The dose had originally been five pellets, but, suffering from an unusually severe attack of headache, the young lady took five doses of fourteen pellets each—seventy granules in all. She was dangerously poisoned, but was saved by the prompt administration of the proper antidotes. Her experience shows that homoeopathic medicine is not quite so harmless as sugar plums.

Capt. Ayres, the inventor of the bell rope system of signalling on railroad trains, died recently. Before 1842 there was no means of communication between the conductor and the engineer of trains. In that year Ayers, who was then a conductor, inaugurated the present system by running a cord over the cars to the engine, where it was fastened to a stick of wood. A conflict of authority shortly afterwards ensued between Ayers and the engineer of his train. Ayers beat the engineer in a battle with the fists. Since that fight conductors have had control of trains.

Civil Service Reform—An Address From The Independent Republicans of New York—Gen. Garfield's Reply.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.

Horace White and F. W. Whitbridge, representing the Independent Republicans of New York, to-day presented General Garfield with an address congratulating him on his election, which sealed the approval of the principles he had advocated, and promised him their support in carrying them out. They dwelt on the danger of a quadripartite election for President when the spoils are the reward of party supremacy. No other government exposes its trusted servants to begging on the hazard of an election. The abuses of half a century's growth are not reformed today. We believe, however, public opinion is in advance of any reform in the civil service heretofore attempted, and that you may safely establish rules for entrance to all subordinate positions which shall make ascertained merit the sole test of appointment, discarding both partisan service and party affiliation from the list of qualifications. In this way a new basis may be gradually gained for civil service to rest on, so that hereafter no political party in its hour of triumph shall look on public officers as an enemy's camp subject to indiscriminate pillage. If the civil service shall receive the same state-military treatment at your hands as President that you have bestowed upon it as a member of Congress and public teacher, you will be entitled to the gratitude of your countrymen and a verdict which history awards to those who have wisely used great opportunity. Signed by F. H. Withridge, George Wallon Green, Henry Van Dusen, Horace White, George Haven Putnam, Felix Kaffman, N. S. Spencer and Clarence Denning, Executive Committee of the Independent Republican Association of the county of New York.

General Garfield having received the paper, entered on a discussion of civil service, in the course of which he said he hoped to have the co-operation of Congress in establishing a legal basis for all routine appointments, so that it should not be in the power of anybody, even the President, to remove any capable and faithful appointee during his term of office, whether the term be long or short.

A Conference Between Garfield and Blaine.

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.

An Inter-Ocean Washington special says: Blaine had a long private interview with Garfield to-day. The conversation was of the most frank and friendly character. It is understood that Blaine gave his views of matters and things with great freedom. It is probable that these gentlemen will not meet again until the inauguration. Such being the case, Garfield was anxious to know whatever suggestions the Maine Senator wished to make. After their interview Garfield was asked a question in regard to his prospective Cabinet, and replied that he should not agree in his own mind as to members of his Cabinet before February; that he thought that was abundantly soon to come to a conclusion upon so important a question. One of his intimates says he has determined on no single person yet. A Southern delegation called on him to-day in the interest of Southern claims for a Cabinet position. The General will stay till Monday.

Arizona's First Formal Hanging.

PHOENIX, November 26.

Demetrio Dominguez was hanged to-day for the murder of Mr. Thomas, a year ago. He was escorted to the gallows by a strong guard, a rescue having been threatened, but no attempt was made. He was but seventeen years old. He left a written confession acknowledging his guilt. This is the first legal execution in the Territory, though it is known that four men have been lynched, and eleven other rough characters who have suddenly disappeared at various times are supposed to have been hung.

Sixty Men Buried by an Avalanche

DENVER, November 26.

ling, and in an instant the slide came with a roar, tearing up the track a distance of a quarter of a mile and burying sixty men. John Dine was killed and nineteen men badly injured, and eleven others slightly. The slide carried the track over the heads of the men, and most of the wounds were probably caused by the iron striking them.

The Malheur Reservation to be Sold.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.

The annual report of the Indian Bureau says with reference to Chief Winnemucca's tribe, now in Nevada, that it is not considered desirable to compel them to remove to the Malheur Reservation, and as most of the other Indians formerly collected there have been removed to Yakima, it is recommended that all of the lands included in the Malheur Reservation be appraised and sold and the proceeds invested for the benefit of the Indians. The lands comprise nearly 1,800,000 acres.

Trial of I. M. Killoch.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27.

The case of I. M. Killoch for the murder of Charles DeYoung came up in the Superior Court to-day, when the accused changed his plea from "once in jeopardy" to "not guilty and prior acquittal on same charge."

A Railroad Collision.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27.

The 1:30 train from Berkeley to Oakland came in collision with a freight train to-day. Both engines and trains were considerably damaged, but no one was seriously injured.

An Ostrich Killed by Bees.

We exceedingly regret to hear of the loss by bees of a valuable male ostrich, the property of Mr. S. W. Long. It appears that a swarm of bees settled the other day in one of his ostrich camps at Orange Grove, and having attacked the hen, upon the cook coming to her assistance, he was stung to death in a very short time. The bird was worth $100.—Cape Journal.

He Blazed.

"Blaze away," said Dawson, when Ruffner threatened to shoot him in a saloon at Monongahela City, Pa. Ruffner was a drunken braggart, and Dawson, fearing nothing from his menace, stood up before him and invited him to fire. Ruffner pulled the trigger, and Dawson fell with a bullet in his heart.

The fire in the Imperial started up afresh on Wednesday, but did little damage.
